DISCUSSION & INSIGHTS

WEBINAR SUMMARY

Join us for a critical discussion focused on the unique challenges and effective strategies for engaging men in mental health treatment and suicide prevention. Despite men dying by suicide at significantly higher rates than women, they are often less likely to seek or remain engaged in care. This webinar is designed to equip primary care providers and clinicians with evidence-based approaches to address this disparity. We will move beyond universal screenings to explore what comes next, focusing on practical, effective steps for intervention. Our expert, Larry Herren, will share insights and personal reflections on how to recognize and overcome the specific barriers men face.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Larry Herren is a highly accomplished Licensed Master Social Worker (LMSW) with over 35 years of professional experience. He currently serves as a leader at Community and Home Supports (CHS) in Detroit, overseeing the Behavioral Health Division and supervising the agency's education department. In addition, Larry maintains a thriving private clinical practice through the Oakland Evidence-Based Psychotherapy Clinic. His specialties encompass a broad range of treatment areas, including Substance Use Disorders, Family Therapy, and Mental Health: depression, anxiety, stress management, and grief and loss. Larry has also served on the State of Michigan Licensing Board for Social Work, contributing to the professional standards and regulation of social work practice across the state.
